

WEEKLY NEWSLETTER

June 27th - July 1st

The penultimate week of our last session of the academic year was a whole lot of wacky fun! The week started on a high note as we traveled as a school on a fun field trip to bounce and play at Scooter's Jungle for a birthday celebration! We also spent some time doing Core Skills on Monday, like every day, but the real fun this week was Spa Quest! Led by one of our very own Navigators, Spa Quest was a blast with some really fun and interesting activities spread across the week. The Eagles explored ancient spas, modern spas, and everything in between for this week's mini-quest. We closed the week with another amazing beach day, and proved that even with our head of school out, the learners can take charge and make sure we all still have a fantastic week.

SPA QUEST

Spa Day was such a hit last year that of course the Eagles voted for it again this year, this time for a whole week! Wyeth spent a lot of time brainstorming activities, coming up with engaging launches, and finding the fun!

Quest kicked into gear on Tuesday as the learners explored why people go to spas in our opening launch. Also, they used scented and chilled washcloths to cleanse and purify their faces for the activities to come! Face washing, masks, and moisturizing followed, plus decorating sleeping masks and headbands while getting hair wraps!

Wednesday, the Eagles got the chance to custom-make their own sugar scrubs and lotions to take home, and they got to put on temporary tattoos on their newly rejuvenated skin!

Our last day of Spa Week was spent giving and getting hand massages, painting nails, and doing more hair wraps after a well-executed last-minute reschedule by the quest leader.
